

Year-on-year average price of the W.E.B share since 2012 (The figures have been aligned according to the share split in June 2021)

As the W.E.B share is not listed on the stock exchange, there is no defined price per share. The illustrated average prices are based on transactions via Traderoom.

This information serves advertising purposes. It does not constitute an offer for sale or a request or invitation to subscribe for or acquire any securities. This information does not constitute any investment counselling or financial analysis either. W.E.B does not offer securities to the public at the present time. Whether or not securities are a suitable option for your specific situation depends on your financial conditions, your willingness to take risks, your knowledge and experience, and your investment goals. Investments are always subject to certain risks; before acquiring any securities, we recommend to consult independent experts. We have prepared this information with utmost care and checked the data. Nevertheless, any errors arising from rounding, transmission, typesetting or printing cannot be excluded.

Past price developments are no indication of future performance.